

THE PLOW COMMUNITY GARDEN PRESENTS:

ART AROUND THE GARDEN

Kick-off Event

Thursday, October 26
7 p.m. - 9 p.m.
Wesley Memorial UMC Fellowship Hall

“NC Slave Voices in Arts and Letters”

As an introduction, Southern Scholar Lucinda MacKethan will speak about the many ways enslaved people created voices and resistance in song, poetry, folk tale, and narrative. Then, potter and anthropologist Kathy Rodgers will present. She has been making new pottery pieces using slave quilt designs that she has carefully researched and will discuss the history of the quilts and how she is using them.

For more information, call Cindy MacKethan at 919-781-0716
